

23 Of 27 Speakers Favor Thruway Plan A

By Leonard Randolph

A TOTAL of 27 persons testified at a Highways Department public hearing on the proposed Stroudsburg Thruway yesterday. Held in County Court House, the hearing attracted a crowd of nearly 200 persons despite the worst ice storm of the winter. An overwhelming majority of the witnesses favored Plan A—the plan approved by the State. It was developed by Gannett, Fleming, Cordry and Carpenter, an engineering firm hired by the department to choose the best route for the planned Thruway. Of the 27 witnesses, a total of 18 were completely in favor of the State-endorsed Plan A. Another five men testified they favor the plan as proposed by the engineers but take exception to a small segment of the route. The total number of individuals and groups favoring the outline of Plan A, therefore, was 23.

The remaining four witnesses said they are opposed to the route outlined in Plan A. The four men represented two area organizations — The Citizens Bypass Committee and the Top of the Poconos Assn.

The completely favoring the route — in most cases acting as spokesmen for official government bodies or for local organizations — were the following:

Jesse R. S. Flory, Chief Burgess of East Stroudsburg; Edward A. Doran, Chief Burgess of Stroudsburg; George T. Robinson, borough solicitor, representing Stroudsburg Council; Thomas F. Sexton, representing East Stroud-burg Council and the Central Labor Union Social Club.

Also Harold Albert, Stroud Township supervisors; Carl Woolever, East Stroudsburg Democratic Club; Harry Hamlin, president of the Monroe County Association of Township Officials; J. Horace Strunk, Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce.

Also Ralph Paul, Central Labor Union of Monroe and Pike counties; Hal H. Harris, former Stroudsburg burgess appearing as a private citizen; Forrest R. Smith, Pocono Mountains Realty Board; John J. Newberry Jr., president of J. J. Newberry Inc.

Also Alfred Baxter, for the Eastern Poconos Resort Assn. Albert Koster, representing East Stroudsburg merchants and property owners; Ernest H. Wyckoff, president of A. E. Wyckoff Inc.; John E. Wilson, manager of the Stroudsburg Newberry store; Charles J. Marsh, president of Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn. and Van D. Yetter, Pocono Mountains Motor Club.

The five witnesses who testified that they were in favor of the Thruway but do not approve of minor portions of the plan were the following: Thomas Breslauer, Pocono Shoe Manufacturing Co.; Lester Brown, an attorney acting in behalf of Smithfield Township supervisors; Seymour Katz, D. Katz and Sons scrap metal; Guyton Kemper and Stephen Mados, both of Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce.

The four men testifying against Plan A were: Harold Edwards, a Stroudsburg attorney who represented the Top of the Poconos Assn. Henry Evans, Edwin Buck and Arthur Tragner, who represented the Citizens Bypass Committee.

Yesterday morning's hearing was held in compliance with Federal law. The Bureau of Public Roads requires that such hearing be held to give residents an opportunity to express their opinions.

Section 116-C of the law provides for the hearings. It says, in effect, that such hearings are to attempt to determine the economic effect of highways on the community, rather than on individuals.

John R. Rezzolla, chief counsel for the State Highways Department, presided at yesterday's hearing. Seated with him on the judge's platform in Courtroom No. 1 was Richard J. Harris, deputy secretary of highways. Harris did not take part in the hearing, however. Rezzolla started the hearing nearly a half-hour late to give residents a chance to arrive before it began. The state of highways, due to the ice storm, might prevent many of those who wished to appear from arriving at the announced time, 10 a.m., he said.

Then Rezzolla explained the present status of the Thruway.

He said that it has been accepted by the Bureau of Public Roads a part of the Interstate highway system. It is a relocation of Route 611.

He noted that all testimony at the hearing was being tape recorded. The recordings and the stenographic transcript will (Please Turn to Page Three)

Bus, Truck Collide Near Snydersville

SNYDERSVILLE — A school bus-load of children — 34 of them — escaped injury in a truck-bus collision on a side road near here yesterday.

Stroudsburg State police said that the bus, driven by its owner, Paul Flyte, 66, of Stroudsburg RD 2, was going east on the connecting road between Snydersville and the Neola macadam road. It was 1:15 p.m. The pupils had been released early because of bad weather conditions.

POLKA DOTS AND POKER-FACE—Man in charge of yesterday's hearing was John R. Rezzolla, chief counsel to the State Department of Highways. True to the tradition of public hearing moderators, Rezzolla handled long parade of witnesses gently and calmly; never interrupted, even when brief statements stretched on . . . and on. With Rezzolla here is Richard J. Harris, (in dotted tie) deputy secretary of highways.

Government In Quest Of Limit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The administration asked today for a five-billion-dollar increase in the national debt, to 280 billions.

First reaction in Congress pointed to approval as a matter of regretful necessity in view of the ever-climbing costs of national defense.

The debt has already pressed to within less than 750 million dollars of the present 275-billion limit.

Chairman Mills (D-Ark) and Rep. Reed (R-N.Y.) of the House Ways and Means Committee introduced a bill to carry out the request from the Treasury for lifting the ceiling.

They expressed regret in a joint statement that even a temporary increase might be needed, but said Congress would have to give consideration to the request under "present world conditions and the realities of managing our nation's fiscal affairs on an orderly basis."

First witness Mills said the committee would hold public hearings next Friday, with Secretary of the Treasury Anderson and Budget Director Percival Brundage as the first witnesses.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va) said the Senate Finance Committee would take up the matter as soon as the House acted and hold "full and open hearings."

Byrd has been the staunchest advocate in Congress of a debt

House To Vote On Space Funds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The House agreed today to vote tomorrow on a $548,226,000 authorization bill for emergency space age defenses.

Prompt clearance by the House Rules Committee was expected for the legislation, which came to Congress only a week ago. It is part of President Eisenhower's request for some 14 billion in supplemental defense funds for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Meanwhile both the House and Senate continued their investigations of U.S. progress in the ballistic missiles field in the light of recent Russian advances.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee that if Soviet Russia attacked, the United States has present power of retaliation that would be effective and sufficient.

Joint Chiefs The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff testified behind closed doors and his testimony was relayed to newsmen.

He was quoted as saying Congress and the nation should go slow on various proposals to reshuffle the Joint Chiefs of Staff or revamp present missions assigned to the Army, Navy and Air Force.

It was reported on the House side that the Navy will be firing test models of its 1,500-mile Polaris missile by early 1960.

The Polaris, designed for launching from atomic submarines above or below water, has been described in some quarters as the best weapon in sight to counter the threat of Soviet intercontinental missiles.

Secretary of Defense McElroy, who is testifying at closed-door sessions of the House Armed Services Committee, is reported to have held out hope that production orders for test models of the Polaris will be issued before July 1, 1959.

At the Senate inquiry, George M. Bunker, an executive of the Glenn L. Martin Co., was quoted as saying that production of the Air Force Titan, a 5,000-mile missile, could be speeded up at relatively small financial risk.

The authorization bill given the go-ahead in the House today is mainly a construction measure. It does not contain any authorization for missiles or long-range bombers, which are covered in the other half of Eisenhower's request and are still being considered by the house appropriations committee.

The bill would authorize 189 million dollars for work on a system to flash warnings of oncoming enemy ballistic missiles and about 29 million for the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment System, which provides for the interception of enemy aircraft.

Cuban Rebels Attack Town

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 14 (AP)—Fidel Castro's rebels swept down out of the mountains today and sealed off the bustling sugar shipping city of Manzanillo in a daylight rampage of pillage and plunder. Then they slipped away before nightfall.

Castro's men set fire to sugar cane fields, smashed equipment, burned automobiles and buses,

APPROVAL of large majority of township officials for Plan A was expressed by Harry Hamlin, president of Monroe County Association of Township Officials.

Panati To Replace Gleeson

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14 (AP)—Gov. Leader today appointed Vincent G. Panati, Philadelphia attorney, as Secretary of Revenue replacing Gerald A. Gleeson, who was appointed to the Philadelphia Common Pleas Court.

Panati, 50, special deputy attorney general in charge of the state's investigation of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, will assume the $20,000-a-year post when Gleeson steps out at the end of the month.

Salary Panati's salary with the Justice Department was $14,654.

Leader also appointed Ethan Allen Doty to a second vacancy in the Philadelphia court. The posts pay $22,500.

Gleeson, 54, a former U. S. Attorney in Philadelphia, said he would resign the revenue post before the end of the month.

Chief Justice Helps Wetzel

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 14 (AP)—Mississippi's chief justice joined today in asking to spare the life of William Alvin Wetzel, New York badman scheduled to be executed Friday.

Witnesses at a clemency hearing said Wetzel's lonely home life at Seneca Falls, N.Y., led him to reject God at the age of six only to "find his Redeemer" in death row.

Helping They said the handsome, dark-haired convict already is helping other convicts at Parchman State Penitentiary to find God.

Wetzel, whose brother was sentenced to life recently in the slaying of a North Carolina highway patrolman, is scheduled to be executed Friday.

3,374,000 In Ranks Of Unemployed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The government reported today that 3,374,000 Americans were unemployed last month despite holiday hiring. The jobless figure was 186,000 higher than in November.

The monthly joint report of the Commerce and Labor departments also indicated a far bigger jump in unemployment may be in store this month. It noted that claims for federal-state unemployment benefits increased by more than half a million since the December jobless count was taken.

More than one in every 20 Americans was unemployed last month, the report said. The exact figure was 5.2 per cent of the labor force. This was the highest December rate since 1949 and the highest for any month in three years.

December December employment figures were down by 477,000, to a total of 64,396,000. The increase in unemployment statistics was not correspondingly great because many workers who lost their jobs withdrew from the labor force — a job, did not seek other work. A jobless person is not classed as unemployed unless he is looking for a job.

The report also cited figures indicating that, even as fewer Americans held jobs, those who were employed worked a shorter week. The average factory work week remained at the November level of 39.3 hours, but overtime work showed from 2.3 to an even 2 hours.

Not since World War II had the December average work week been so short.

Average factory earnings ended the year at $82.92 a week, down $1.13 from a year ago.

The report said holiday hiring helped check the December increase in unemployment. The Post Office Department added about 300,000 temporary workers to handle Christmas mail and employment in stores showed a holiday jump of 480,000.

Farm employment dropped by 400,000 to 5,400,000 but this was less of a drop than usual for this season. The report noted some harvesting was resumed in December after having been interrupted by bad weather in November.

The report said unemployment benefit claims indicated the ranks of the jobless showed the biggest increases in the states of New York, Pennsylvania, California, Ohio and Michigan.

French Face New Crisis

PARIS, Jan. 14 (AP)—An angry war veterans' lobby today plunged Premier Felix Gaillard's young government into a crisis within hours after a new session of Parliament convened.

Gaillard, who had hoped to begin debate on foreign affairs, was forced to change tactics and demand a vote of confidence.

Officials Working On Shortway Ceremonies

GOV. LEADER and top State officials are now trying to fix a date for a ceremony to mark the start of Keystone Shortway construction.

The starting date will be "sometime in 1958". But nothing further than that has been decided so far.

Gov. Leader met yesterday with Lewis Stevens, Secretary of Highways; Michael Baker Jr., Rochester, head of the engineering firm which bears his name and Henry Harral, deputy highways secretary.

Primary purpose of the meeting was to discuss the starting date for the Shortway. Details of a full-scale ceremony accompanying it are still to be decided.

Harral said last night that "nothing definite" was decided at yesterday's meeting in Harrisburg. Harral said that decisions depend on presentation of a report later by Baker, consulting engineer on design of the Stroudsburg-Sharon express highway.

"This was purely an exploratory conference," Harral said. "Too many details still remain to be worked out to make a definite statement."

The 300-mile, four-lane highway has already been approved by Federal and state officials as part of the Federal Interstate program. First construction is expected on the eastern leg of the road.

The eastern terminal point will be near Tannersville in Monroe County. The "eastern leg" of the road would probably be the area between Tannersville and Watsonstown, below Williamsport.

Full length of the highway will not be completed for as long as 10 years under existing estimates.

The Governor's office declined comment on an opening date, pending further reports from Michael Baker Jr.

Army Launches Heaviest, Largest Ballistic Missile From Cape Canaveral Base

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Jan. 14 (AP)—The Army launched a Redstone missile—the first stage of its forthcoming satellite-bearing space vehicle—at 8:25 p.m. tonight.

The largest and heaviest of the Army's ballistic weapons, the 69-foot-long, six-foot thick Redstone blasted off into a starry, almost cloudless sky and appeared to make a successful flight. The Redstone will be used as the first stage of the Jupiter-C vehicle with which the Army plans to establish a small earth satellite in orbit.

The tall weapon, biggest in the Army's missile arsenal, rose ponderously from its concrete launching pad. A fiery wake made it visible for miles up and down the beaches of the Florida east coast.

Climbs Slowly Sheathed in flame, it climbed slowly and majestically — a giant torch being raised for all to see. But once aloft it accelerated more and more swiftly until, within seconds, it had become a winking star high in the sky.

The roar of its rocket engine did not reach watchers on the beaches four or five miles from the launching area until fully a minute after the takeoff.

For a minute or more after the missile vanished into the clear night it could be heard, still roaring on higher and higher toward the southeast.

A series of more than a dozen bright flashes, like the popping of photographic flash bulbs, marked the trail of the Redstone through the avenues between the stars.

These flashes are a standard part of a Redstone shot. They are photo flash charges used to help in the photographic tracking of the missile.

Detroit Plant Dr. Werner von Braun, father of the Redstone, reportedly flew here from the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., to witness the test launching. Von Braun is chief of development testing at the Army ballistic missile agency at Huntsville.

The Redstone is being built by Chrysler Corp. at a government-owned plant in Detroit. It was the first medium range missile to go into full-scale production and is in operation.

In the Army satellite vehicle, scheduled for launching this month, the Redstone first stage would start the vehicle on its way toward orbital altitude.

Hotels Protest New Wage Minimum

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14 (AP)—The hotel and restaurant industries in Pennsylvania today asked that proposed new minimum wages for women and minors scheduled to go into effect April 15 in their industries be rejected.

William S. Livengood Jr., representing the Pennsylvania Hotels Assn., said the new rates are "arbitrary, capricious, oppressive, confiscatory and illegal." He said they would mean a boost of 25 to 35 per cent in hotel operating costs and, possibly, higher room and meal rates and even layoffs of employees.

Description Edward C. First Jr., representing the Pennsylvania Restaurant Assn., described the proposed rates as "onerous, extreme and unreasonable. He raised the possibility of legal action to prevent them from taking effect, but also offered grounds on which his industry might compromise.

On the other hand, Harry Boyer, president of the Pennsylvania CIO Council, commended the special nine-member committee which recommended the new wage minimums, which he said were "much needed and long overdue."

The three represented the principal viewpoints presented to William L. Batt Jr., state secretary of labor and industry, at a final hearing required by law before the new minimums can become effective. He has 10 days in which to accept or reject his special committee's recommendations.

Bad Weather Cuts Crowd

HARRISBURG, Jan. 14 (AP)—Bad weather today cut into attendance at the Pennsylvania Farm Show but a big crowd still was attracted to the huge agricultural exposition.

Since the show opened Monday the aisles honeycombed the livestock and machinery exhibits have been packed with visitors from every corner of the state, many from other states and some from foreign nations.

GLARE OF ICE—This was a familiar scene throughout Monroe County yesterday as rain fell, froze and turned highways into a sheet of ice. State Police at Milford reported similar conditions in their area, although other State Police reported wet highways, but did not mention freezing. At least one accident was attributed to the freezing rain. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Venison Dinner For Fellowship

THE Methodist men's Fellowship of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church for the past 12 years has held as its special function of the year, a venison dinner. The dinner will be held Monday, Jan. 20, at 6:30 p.m.

Commenting upon the plans for this year's dinner, Henry Evans, president of the fellowship, says, "we owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to John Doebeling, Monroe County's Game Protector. He has secured a very interesting colored film for us, entitled 'The Pennsylvania Wild Turkey'. Through the office of Doebeling, John C. Behl, conservation information assistant of Harrisburg, will be presented and will participate in the program.

Elwood Huffman, member of the Pennsylvania Game commission will attend. Local game protectors, working with and for Doebeling, have been invited.

Large Crowd
All men of the church have been invited. Special invitations have gone to local hunting clubs. Over 200 people are expected.

This event is more than a banquet. It has a two-fold purpose. It is the occasion upon which contribution for the support of the Methodist Little League baseball team are received and year after year the goal for this purpose has been met at this meeting. But more particularly the venison dinner is the occasion devoted to the very vital theme of conservation.

It is the conviction of the leading group that unless our natural resources are prepared, an American Heritage in outdoor life will be lost.

Phils' Official To Speak

AN UNUSUAL program will be offered to members of the Lehigh Valley Chapter of the National Association of Accountants on Friday night when they meet at the Cedar Club, Bethlehem.

George F. H. Harrison, treasurer of the "Phils", Philadelphia National League Baseball Club, will address the organization on "Baseball Accounting."

Public Accountant
The speaker, a graduate of Pierce School of Business Administration, Philadelphia, is a certified public accountant.

As an added attraction, moving pictures of the 1957 World Series between the Milwaukee Braves and the New York Yankees will be shown by Harrison.

At a board of directors meeting to be held following the technical session, Paul Cooper, director of education, will report on plans for the annual discussion forum to be held March 22, 23 at Split Rock Lodge, White Haven. The topic will be "Machine Accounting."

Fire Causes Slight Damage

EAST STROUDSBURG firemen extinguished a blaze in a rafter under the first floor of the home of R. C. Hallock, 231 Washington St., about 11:30 a. m. yesterday.

Fire Chief Marvin E. Abel said damage was slight. He said the beam was adjacent to a tile chimney and the fire apparently was caused by overheating. Firemen were forced to rip up the floor to reach the blaze.

200 People Attend Open Meeting For Thruway

The only "witness" called by the State was E. J. Greenwald, assistant District Five highways engineer, Allentown. Greenwald explained the precise location of the Thruway. Complete text of his statement may be found on Page Five of today's Daily Record.

At the close of the engineer's testimony, Harold Edwards, Stroudsburg attorney, asked what the proposed width of the right of way to be taken by the Department was to be. Greenwald and Rezzolla answered that it would be 120 feet plus the median. Later, in response to a question from Thomas Kistler, Rezzolla commented that the Department cannot go beyond that limit under present laws.

Jesse R. S. Flory, East Stroudsburg burgess, read into the record a resolution passed by the Council of that borough. He noted the "critical and urgent need to relieve through traffic in East Stroudsburg." The Highways Department should be "urged to proceed at the greatest speed" to construct the highway as proposed, he said.

Flory then spoke briefly, from a personal standpoint, saying: "We have rather an original and unique economic situation which is tied directly to traffic. . . . The solution recommended by the Department is a good one. We urge that it be constructed with all possible haste."

Edward A. Doran, Stroudsburg burgess, said "the borough of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg serves as the gateway to the Pocono Mountains where 80 percent of Pennsylvania's resort industry is located." He said present bottlenecks in the boroughs amount to "traffic strangulation and the deterioration of the free flow of traffic."

"Before us today is a solution to our difficulties. We are for that plan without any reservations. What we appeal for now for the sake of our business and industrial economy and the economy of our laboring people is the swift approval of Plan A and its speedy construction. Any further delay will be disastrous," Doran said.

George T. Robinson, Stroudsburg borough solicitor, read into the record a resolution passed by Borough Council which fully favored Plan A. A similar resolution was read by Thomas F. Sexton, appearing jointly as a member of East Stroudsburg Council and the Central Labor Union Social Club of which he is president. The Social Club, he said, acted "in due concern for the interests of all residents of the area." Alex L. Bensinger, acting East Stroudsburg borough solicitor, responded from the floor, but said he had "nothing further to add" to the borough Council's resolution which was already a part of the record.

Carl Woolever, president of Club, made a resolution of that club part of the record. The official action of Stroud Township supervisors in approving Plan A was read into the record by Harold E. Albert, who said that Plan A "would have the least adverse economic effect on Stroud."

Harry Hamblin, president of the Monroe County Association of Township Officials, delivered the official attitude of that organization. He noted that Routes 209 and 611 "are not adequate to care for traffic" through the area. The Association's resolution said in three parts: That officials approved of a Thruway; that they had "full and complete confidence in the ability" of engineers and the State Highways Department and recommended that the "choice of a route be left to the entire discretion" of the Department. Hamblin said that 14 of Monroe County's 16 townships were represented by officials at the convention during which the resolution was drafted and approved.

Harold C. Edwards, acting in behalf of the Top of the Pocono Association, charged that "the proposed plan is not, in the true sense, a bypass." He said that the proposed location "increases the cost" through condemnation of property and that it "will not allow for expansion because of the congested area in which it is located." Edwards said the route "disregards the scenic beauty of the area . . . and the economy of the Stroudsburgs is dependent upon the scenery." Top of the Pocono, prefers, instead, the Godfrey's Ridge or Hess plan. He further charged that the local Thruway would have a greater number of interchanges than the Allentown bypass.

Lester Brown, Stroudsburg attorney, appeared in behalf of supervisors of Smithfield Township. He said the supervisors' sole objection to Plan A is the proposed abandonment of a Broadheads Creek bridge near Tinkertown Crossing. Otherwise, he said, supervisors are in favor of the plan.

Seymour Katz, representing D. Katz and Sons, said that the proposed Thruway "goes directly through the center of our business location (on Dreher Ave.). We believe that by taking a course through the rear of the property, through an open field, there will be less property damage and less cost to the State and Federal governments."

Thomas Breslauer, Pocono Shoe Manufacturing Co., West Main St., asked that the Dreher Ave. interchange be made "both ways so that trucks can go off and on."

J. Horace Strunk, executive secretary of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce, read a statement signed by Walter S. Peeney, chairman of the executive committee. It said, in part, that "for a period of 20 years the Chamber has been advocating a second bridge between the two towns as well as a suitable bypass. In recent years, it has become so bad that auto clubs all over the nation have routed traffic outside Stroudsburg."

"In June, 1953, the Chamber established a special traffic committee to work with both Councils and businessmen's associations. We have approved Plan A. We believe this is the proper bypass route because it does the best job for all concerned. We strongly urge that the Thruway be constructed."

Hal H. Harris, former Stroudsburg burgess, identified himself only as a resident of 803 Main St., this borough. He strongly advocated construction of Plan A. Harris condemned the actions of "real estate adventurers" who, he said, were attempting to hold up construction of the Thruway or relocate it elsewhere. "There shouldn't be any argument here," Harris said. "The engineers have chosen the route which will do the greatest good for the greatest number of people. Is there anything more democratic than that?"

Forrest R. Smith spoke for the Pocono Mountains Real Estate Board. He read a resolution passed on June 5, 1956 which said, in part that Plan A would have "the least adverse effect on business . . . offers easy access to all Monroe County resort areas and the easy access to Routes 209-West, and the Stroudsburg-Sharon Shortway."

Ralph D. Paul testified in behalf of the Central Labor Union of Monroe and Pike Counties. Paul read a resolution passed by that group favoring Plan A. Then he said "I, personally, wish to go on record endorsing Plan A." He listed these major reasons:

First — from a safety standpoint "because of the large number of accidents which have occurred at the foot of Foxtown Hill in recent years." Second — Because of the economic benefits accruing to the area. Third — Because traffic congestion in Stroudsburg has been responsible for refusal of potential business and industry to locate in this area. Paul cited, specifically, the 1956 and 1957 Summer seasons when property damage to cars was high, due to overheated engines, because of the bottleneck at Seventh and Main Sts. in Stroudsburg.

John J. Newberry Jr. testified in behalf of the Newberry chain of stores. He told the hearing: "I personally had the experience of coming into Stroudsburg on a Summer day when it took 20 minutes to come from the top of Foxtown Hill to Main St. . . . Plan A will provide the needed facility for taking care of through traffic . . . I hope we will see it become a reality in the near future."

Alfred Baxter, secretary of the Eastern Poconos Resort Association, speaking for its 65 members who are operators of resort hotels, motels and restaurants, said that the EPRA had first endorsed Plan A in 1956. Then, he said, at an Oct. 23, 1956 meeting, the group gave A. M. Troegner, head of the Citizens Bypass Committee, the full program to describe his opposition to Plan A and the group's preference for a route they call Plan F.

Immediately following Troegner's appearance, Baxter said, the membership of EPRA again "unanimously voted to continue full support of Plan A — the State approved plan."

Albert Koster, an East Stroudsburg businessman (Koster's Store), presented a petition signed by 118 business people and property owners "who wholeheartedly endorse Plan A. We are unequivocally and without reservation for the Thruway recommended by the Department of Highways in Plan A."

E. H. Wyckoff, head of A. B. Wyckoff Inc., noted that he was testifying both as a representative of that firm and as an individual. "I am the oldest merchant there is in these two communities and I feel I should know what our needs are and something of the feeling of the people. It seems to me nothing further need be said here, we've heard so much in favor of Plan A already," he said.

"We've had a need for this Thruway for 20 years. Plan A is going to be of great benefit to all the traveling public and most certainly to the Stroudsburgs," he continued. "Some of these other plans might be good, I don't know. But in my judgment, without a doubt, this plan your Highways Department has presented is the best one and it should be built. We earnestly hope they will do so, as soon as possible."

John B. Wilson, manager of Newberry's Store, endorsed Plan A "as one of the largest businesses in this borough (Stroudsburg)." He noted that the plan "provides easy access to all shopping facilities."

Charles J. Marsh, president of Stroudsburg Businessmen's Association, reaffirmed that organization's "full endorsement" of the State-approved plan. He noted that the Association has been active in the effort to find "the best available route" for a thruway for several years.

Both Guyton Kempter and Stephen Mados, of the new Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce, urged construction of a modern cloverleaf interchange for that borough, because "egress and ingress to the borough would not be adequate." Both emphasized that the Water Gap Chamber is not opposed to the Thruway route as outlined in Plan A. The group's lone objection is confined to Section 1A of the plan involving ramps and the interchange for their borough.

Henry Evans, a member of the Citizens Bypass Committee, began his testimony by saying that "our first interest was aroused by personal loss" under Plan A. He noted that a petition signed "by 2,210 persons of this County" had been presented to Gov. George M. Leader opposing Plan A. Evans said his group opposes the plan on the grounds that it is "not a bypass but a Thruway." He charged that interchanges are "poorly located"; that "traffic flow figures are obsolete" and that the Bypass Committee's "Plan F" would save $4 million. Edwin F. Buck, Bypass Committee member of 83 Bridge St., said the State plan would cause "unnecessary damage to properties" whereas Plan F proposed by the committee "involves taking of only rural-type land."

Buck's major point appeared to be that Plan F interchanges would provide space where new gas stations, motels and other real estate could be built. He charged, too, that Plan A would raise flood hazards in the area.

Both Evans and Buck identified themselves with the private industries by which they are employed. Evans introduced himself as "treasurer of the International Boiler Works." Buck introduced himself as "chief accountant of Line Material Co., a division of McGraw - Edison Electric."

Arthur Troegner, head of the Bypass Committee, charged that Plan A is outdated. "He then went on to say: 'Those who are working to get this Thruway so close to their front doors will have a lot to answer for.' Troegner further alleged that the Thruway would cause 'great and unnecessary damage to the economy of Monroe County.'

The final testimony came from Van D. Yetter, a member of the board of governors of the Pocono Mountains Motor Club. Yetter read excerpts from minutes of the board's meetings on Nov. 28, 1955 and Jan. 29, 1957, in which the board "unanimously agreed to endorse a suitable bypass plan."

In all cases in this story, the testimony of witnesses has been listed and recounted in the order in which they were heard. Troegner, Evans and Buck were among the last to sign the appearance sheet kept for the hearing. Yetter's name was last on the list.

READY TO SIGN — Among local businessmen and residents who testified in favor of Plan A for The Stroudsburgs Thruway were these: J. L. Kerlin, Albert Koster, Charles Marsh (signing appearance sheet) and Guyton Kempter. Kempter took exception to small part of plan. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Financial Report

The annual financial report for 1957, as read by General Secretary John R. Wilson, showed an operating balance of $74.35 based on income of $48,150.60 and expenses of $48,066.25.

Treasurer Kistler reported payment of $600 ($150 to each of the four local banks) on the building fund indebtedness, reducing the debt to $17,400. With $1,240 in pledges from last year's building fund campaign still outstanding, and $10,500 due from the S. S. Kresge Foundation, the local association is faced with the problem of raising $5,072 to be free of debt this year.

Secretary Wilson's report of activities disclosed a great number of events taking place at the building during December. He also reported considerable progress in developing a well-rounded program at the Barrett Branch under the new executive, Robert Wilson.

The meeting followed a vespers dinner at which Wilson served as host to members of the board and the men who reside in the dormitory.

New School-Aid Plan

The chairman of the National Citizens Council for Better Schools unveiled a new plan yesterday to provide funds for education by permitting the taxpayer to subtract any increase in state and local school taxes in full from his federal income tax bill.

Robert Heller, Cleveland management consultant, argued that the proposal would primarily benefit those in the lower income brackets and would be conducive to federal action without federal interference with local prerogatives.

The federal government at present gives taxpayers a partial credit for most state and local taxes by allowing their deduction from gross income. The "Heller Plan" proposes federal recognition of future increases in local and state taxes used for schools by giving full credit for such increases against both personal and corporate taxes.

Essentially, the plan's author said, this would provide a more dependable source of income for schools which now wait at the end of a long line of taxing bodies.

Key merits of the plan, according to Mr. Heller, are: it provides for an expression of federal concern on the problem of education; it preserves the traditional right of local decision; it provides a means for greater financial assistance to less wealthy areas; it requires no federal administrative expense, and it offers a means for taking full advantage of increasing individual willingness to be taxed for education.

The Heller plan looks good on paper, but is it workable? And will it be accepted? Until certain phases of the proposal and their application to actual use are spelled out in further detail, its true worth cannot be determined accurately.

Furthermore, it's difficult to imagine the federal government agreeing to any cuts in tax revenues unless the states and local school districts accept some financial responsibilities now assumed by federal agencies.

We feel the Heller plan should be pursued further, however, because it seems to meet some of the objections voiced by foes of federal aid to education.

It would, for example, prevent the tax dollar from shrinking like it does under any bureaucratic program where administrative expenses eat heavily into appropriations. And it would remove the threat of federal control over education which now hangs over the school-aid program.

Mr. Heller has offered a new approach to the thorny problem of education-aid. He has a powerful sounding board in the National Citizens Council for Better Schools. It will be interesting to watch further developments as the program unfolds.

Libel On The Dead

I have before me three items:

1. A volume issued by the United States Government Printing Office entitled "Memorial Services Held in the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, Together With Remarks Presented in Eulogy of Joseph Raymond McCarthy..." issued in 1957.

2. An item from "The New York Times" dated Dec. 16, 1957 in which Rabbi Maurice N. Eisenstadt, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, proposed that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer and Dr. Edward Condon be "reinstated as a positive step in aiding this country's lagging scientific program." Said Eisenstadt:

"The time has come to rectify the damage which resulted from the hysterics of McCarthyism. We have matured since those days of sickly panic. We must re-examine the process of distrust which led our Government to brand loyal and distinguished citizens with the label 'security risk' on the basis of flimsy evidence and unreasonable suspicion."

3. An item from "The Standard Times" of New Bedford, Mass., dated Oct. 31, 1955, reporting a speech which Senator McCarthy delivered in Boston, in which the newspaper states:

"Describing the intercontinental ballistic missile as a 'thinking' land-to-land weapon capable of flying from Russia to most U. S. major cities in half an hour, McCarthy cited a report by Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., president of M.I.T., to the effect that within a short time the Communists will be ahead in the ICBM race."

It is hindsight, of course, for some of those who are today shouting about how much we must spend for scientists and engineers and people like that in order to defend ourselves against an enemy who was recognized by Joe McCarthy early enough to have done something about it. His detractors, today that only his ghost walks, may one day have to defend their own records if not for willful distortion of the facts, at any rate for mistaken and immature recognition of the truth.

The memorial volume did not make me too happy, for some of those who extolled the Senator in death, fought him in life over just these issues which are today paramount among us. Perhaps the most honest speech of all was that of Senator Mike Mansfield who said:

"Joe McCarthy has left us. Some of us were in disagreement with him on occasion, but all of us recognized him as a Senator from Wisconsin. It will not be too long when, in the course of events, all of us now in this Chamber will join our former colleague."

Senator Mansfield could not have done less, for after all, Joe McCarthy had been elected to the Senate by the people of Wisconsin and anybody had to accept that because it was a fact. Also, all men die.

And so, I thumb through this volume and wonder why it was issued at all, particularly in the year of the Sputnik. For it was the peculiarities of life that McCarthy had no profound knowledge or deep conviction about Russia or Communism or Marxism until he became a member of a Senate committee and then its chairman and came across material of espionage which forced him to believe that more harm had been done than the House Committee on Un-American Activities had brought to the surface. He believed that espionage was abroad in the land.

McCarthy was so profoundly absorbed in this problem, that no other interested him. He studied the whole of Marxist literature, even attempting to learn Russian for more direct access.

His friends still believe, in 1958, that had the issue not become confused by the raucous quarrel over the person of McCarthy, we might have saved ourselves the grief of such a speech as President Eisenhower delivered to Congress in January of 1958 when he was forced to express a fear that Soviet Russia might pass us in the arms race, a fear which McCarthy expressed in 1955 when it was equally true but gruesomely unpopular.

At any rate, in the Senatorial memorial volume nobody libeled the dead; those who currently attempt to blame Joe McCarthy for our alleged lack of scientific brains come very close to libel. Certainly they are on a false premise when they contend that only those who have brains who are held to be security risks. That, of course, can amount to defamation of American scientists and engineers who do their work without imperiling their country.

The Once Over

by H. I. Phillips

Not "Sputnik" but "notepad" may be greatest threat to world peace. Bulganin is first man to put 38 pages of notes in orbit. Nobody would oppose a get-together with Russia if it had even "levelled" in a high-level meeting, but on the record it would seem that Moscow still proposes to go all out for world peace, if it takes its LAST VETO.

Even a five-yard gain in any tangle with the Russians has been blocked by their team's four horsemen known as Run-around, Snafu, Doubletalk and Factwister. Talking disarmament with Russia is like trying to establish a quiet-zone in a shooting gallery. America's greatest need is a warning device to detect U. S. R. propaganda messages in time to destroy them.

How can you warn up to summit conference proposals on disarmament, peace and brotherly love from a man that has kicked these things all over the lot in every huddle, under the slogan "Everybody is wrong but us"? Bulgy wants it in Geneva where the Chinese Reds are still deadlocking a conference begun nearly two years ago. The edelweiss is fresher there and looks prettier festooned around the "nyets" perhaps. But if the Free World agrees to re-stage "Gum-it-Up at the Summit" meetings it will let the consecutive interpretations of Russian speeches be made by interpreters on Swiss sleds and ski jumps, with St. Bernard dogs allowed to vote in any case where Russia wants to break a tie. One thing is clear. Soviets have developed an Intercontinental Ballistic EPistle. And it's a rapid-fire weapon. They get one up every day or two. American view is that Russia merely wants to put on the same old run-around on better lighted stage, with Barnum & Bailey routines. The Soviets are experts in staging the veto to Strauss waiters and putting on their programs "in color," with Red predominant.

Robert S. Allen Reports...

House GOP Unit Busy

Washington, Jan. 14—The House Republican Campaign Committee is girding itself to "fight fire with fire."

Frankly acknowledging that a number of GOP congressional candidates face uphill contests this year, the committee has determined on two exceptional measures to ensure their maximum assistance:

1. Raise a $1,000,000 campaign chest, to be spent entirely for electing Republicans to the House.

Provide these candidates with a "six-star" campaigning service, that will supply them with a wide range of publicity and other essential material and facilities—all free of charge.

This unusual "package" electioneering service includes the writing and distribution of weekly newsletters for the voters back home, the production of radio and TV programs, and extensive photographic, art and research aid of all kinds.

This dynamic ballot-winning program is spelled out in detail in a memorandum that Rep. Richard Simpson, Pa., veteran committee chairman, has sent to all GOP members of the House. He explains it is the first of a series of "bulletins" to tell you of the tremendous services being offered free of charge this year by the committee to help in your coming campaign.

Also significantly stressed by Simpson is that his committee will operate wholly on its own, and not as an adjunct of the Republican National Committee. The two organizations will function separately—as far as Simpson's group is concerned.

Highlights of his backstage memorandum, which is evoking enthusiastic GOP response, are as follows:

"1. News—Prepare and distribute newsletter material to your office every Wednesday; assist in the preparation of press releases and other publicity material; prepare and distribute speech material for use on special occasions, such as Lincoln Day addresses, for which material will be sent you shortly; provide research assistance on special projects; and, in general, work with you on any public relations problems on which we can be of assistance."

"2. Radio-Television—Provide assistance in the writing and producing of radio and TV programs; produce five-minute TV films of topical interest; make available film footage for cut-in use on your longer TV shows; supply a silent camera for filming news clips in which you are featured; distribute a weekly five-minute radio script on current affairs, and operate a screening room and radio recording room for your use."

"3. Photo—Provide a complete photo service which speedily makes and processes for newspapers in your district pictures in which you are featured; prepare mats of news pictures for weekly newspapers in your district; provide group-photo photo posted cards of you and your constituents ready to mail; and offer advice and assistance on all your photographic needs.

"4. Art—Provide art work for your newsletters, television shows and campaign literature; assist you in dealing with printers and suppliers in obtaining now bulk rates for campaign and other materials; and work with you on any problems requiring the services of an artist."

"5. Research—Assemble and prepare material on any subject you may wish to develop for your individual use during the present session of Congress or the campaign."

"6. Campaign—A campaign services booklet, specifying additional services the committee will provide, will be issued later. Approximately $1,000,000 is being raised for the support of these and the other services."

Assisting Simpson in this ambitious program is a new Executive Board consisting of: Representatives Henry Latham, N. Y., Charles Wolverton, N. J., J. Edgar Chenoweth, Colo., Charles Halleck, Ind., and Hal Holmes, Wash.

Getting Set—Two young and ambitious Democratic Governors who have been eyeing decided to pass them up this year.

They are Michigan's "Soapy" Williams, and Tennessee's Frank Clements.

Williams will not run against Republican Senator Charles Potter; instead will seek an unprecedented sixth term as State Executive, and will back Lieutenant Governor Phillip Hart for the Senate. Williams will announce this in several weeks; has already made it known to Michigan Democratic leaders.

Governor Clements has privately given his word to Senator Albert Gore that he will not oppose him for re-election this year. Neither will Clements run for Governor again. He plans to resume practicing law, and to support State Agriculture Commissioner Buford Ellington for Governor.

The 1960 presidential race is the key to these backstage decisions of the two young governors. Both have that contest very much on their mind, and are shaping all their plans toward it.

Both Williams and Clements figure their presidential chances are a lot better out of the Senate than in it.

Political—Former President Truman is going to be active in more ways than one in this year's turbulent electioneering. In addition to planning to campaign extensively, he is also assisting in fund raising. For that purpose, he has agreed to a Harry S. Truman Dinner in the Capital, at $100 a plate, with the money going to the party's campaign chest. The occasion will take place on February 22, under the co-chairmanship of Edward Foley, one-time Treasury general counsel, and Mrs. Fred Vinson, widow of the Chief Justice. Hope springs eternal—in some would-be king makers' ambitions. A group of Democrats that swung to President Eisenhower in 1952 but are nifted at him now, are putting out soundings on a boom for George Kennan, former Ambassador to Russia, who has been making headlines with his BBC broadcasts favoring a deal with Moscow. The fact that former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other leading Democrats have "repudiated" Kennan, is not deterring his presidential booster. It is an absolute certainty their boom will get nowhere.

Ice Skates Bring Aches To Ankles

by Jim Kuey

Have you been ice skating lately?

Do your ankles ache? Do you have trouble "sitting down"? Do you have a cold that borders on pneumonia? Well, the first three questions would find me answering to the positive.

I know a man of my age should know better, but the wife and I took the two oldest children ice skating with a bunch of adult experts and a group of youngsters who were having the time of their lives on Sunday.

Me? I originally embarked on the journey as chaffer. When I was being backed against the wall I offered to help the youngsters, both those with skates and those without. Of course all aid would find me without skates.

But, another landslide of urging and Ol' Rile was looking up a pair of skates that had been on these aching dogs only twice in the past 30 years. I knew I was in for trouble right from the start. But when I broke the laces three times putting on my skates, any doubt on the subject that I may have harbored was quickly washed away.

Walking from the spot where I put on my skates to the ice was another story. I lay claim to the distinction of being the first man to ever walk on his ankles.

Upon reaching the ice I promptly sat down on a small stool to rest. I would have rested all afternoon except the adults wanted to play hockey and the kids wanted to be pulled on sleds.

After long and careful thought, something like two seconds worth, I decided to give the children a whirl around the lake on the sled. Well, they really didn't get a whirl, but sort of a guided tour in slow motion.

The kids even tired of me. My trips were entirely too slow and one time around the lake and I had to stop to rest. My ankles were shot.

As far as playing hockey, it was out of the question. As far as this freight train was concerned, I was even too slow to referee.

I offered to be the goalie, but everyone agreed that the stationary goals could move faster than me.

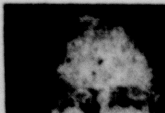

Later they (meaning the real skaters) began jumping over obstacles, for both distance and altitude.

After watching this action for a considerable length of time, I retired for the day. Ol' Rile had it—but good.

The ankles will never be the same.

Selling The USA Abroad

Lasting international impressions of the cultural and industrial achievements of the various nations will be made this year at the World's Fair in Brussels.

Whether we like it or not, attention will be focused on the exhibits of those two world giants, Russia and the United States. But unless this country takes quick action, the impression will be built up abroad that Russia is the more advanced of the two nations. We say this because the Soviet Union is planning to spend $70 million to our $12 million on its exhibits.

Although the House Foreign Affairs Committee last July okayed an outlay of $15 million, the Administration cut this back $3 million. Now our fair representatives are asking that $2 million of this amount be restored.

Certainly the request is justified.

The Pennsylvania Story

Farm Show Phenomenon

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg—We don't know of anything quite like it on the Pennsylvania scene.

For that matter insofar as we have been able to determine there isn't anything like anywhere else.

We're referring to that phenomenon—and it must be considered just that—known more familiarly as the annual Pennsylvania Farm Show.

The big "farmers' fair" as it is often fondly called, today reaches the midpoint of its week-long stand under the tremendous, sprawling 14-acre roof of the Penn Show Building here in the State Capitol.

Before the last cow has been ushered from its stall on Saturday more than a half-million visitors will have trooped through the exposition doors.

Over the years, gawking agricultural officials from other states—and indeed foreign countries—have pilgrimaged to Harrisburg to see how it is done.

They have come away amazed and dumbfounded at the massiveness of it—the tremendous scope today covered by the Farm Show.

They have returned to their native states fired with the determination to duplicate the event.

So far they haven't been able to do it.

The Pennsylvania Farm Show today still stands as the largest indoor agricultural exposition in the world.

It is a tribute to the three-quarter billion dollar income producing farming industry in Pennsylvania—that amazingly, perhaps places it on a par with steel or coal in Pennsylvania's economy.

This isn't the full story though of the 41-year-old agricultural extravaganza—or the primary reason why it is today truly a phenomenon.

Not generally known is the fact that the custom of holding the Farm Show in January actually dates back 106 years to the organization of the State Agricultural Society in January of 1851.

This "society" sponsored the first Pennsylvania State Fair in October of that year—the forerunner of the State Farm Show.

In the "early days" of the present Farm Show tents were used—where available—to house the then blossoming but faltering event.

It was held on any site in Harrisburg that might be had to accommodate it. This was the pattern from 1917 to 1931.

Offtimes the show was held in the open—complete with rain or blizzards.

The Main Farm Show Building was dedicated and opened for use 28 years ago. It has expanded with the years until today some 14 acres are under roof.

The Farm Show is unique also in that no charge has ever been made for admissions—and has retained its original objectives as an educational feature and never has had any "midway" type of entertainment or attractions.

Strangely perhaps it has become a mecca for "city folk" as well as those directly concerned with agricultural pursuits.

As far as the Farm Show is concerned—truly there is nothing quite like it.

Today it has become another "hallmark" of the Keystone State—unique and almost unbelievable when you see it, a phenomenon in itself.

Bible Thought

So Abraham prayed and God healed Abimelech, and his wife, Gen. 20:17.

Abraham was called the father of the faithful. Unselfish love and faith have perfectly marvelous powers. We must not waver in our faith. We must not doubt Gods infinite love.

Good Evening Ladies!

Bills Chill Shopping Joy

By Ken Duval

The melancholy days are come and as I browse through the Christmas bills I try to recapitulate some of that spirit that seized me during the days just prior to this most heart-warming of all holidays.

Those were the days when I was prowling the stores with a shopping list in my hand.

I remember the tinkling bells of the Santa Claus, the carols on the electric organs accompanying the ladies from lingerie and cosmetics singing on their lunch hours; the pretty girls and young mothers with flushed faces framed in lingering snow flakes, the piles and piles of goodies and merchandise to make the heart beat faster. And, of course, the excited kids.

But I remember only dimly what I was thinking about when I made some of the purchases that now stare me in the face in the form of itemized statements. It is like going back to the shores of a lake where, years before, you pledged undying love and received a pledge in return: the moonlight is gone, the lake is but a muddy puddle and the girl married another guy.

Headed For Skid Row

If only, as I write the checks, I could feel again the flooding love that inundated my better judgment, the bravado with which I dismissed the cautioning nudgings of common sense, the gay nothing-is-too-good-for-her with which I signed the sales slips, the willingness to work my fingers to the bone, even scrub floors, to get out of hock.

Today, the thought of scrubbing floors sends a shudder down my spine. The gee-gaws and jim-cracks mock me with unspoken challenges to get a bucket and brush and start looking for work. Every knock at the door sounds like the hammer blows of some nasty little man tacking up an eviction notice. In my mind's eye I see myself shuffling along the cobble of Skid Row, a beaten man in rags, seeking of the cheap wine in which I seek futilely to drown my troubles.

And when all this happens, where will that certain party be, and all those relatives and false friends, that rich old aunt who sent me the cactus

Behind The Scenes

In Hollywood

By Harrison Carroll

Hollywood—Very few 17-year-old boys have secretaries, but Ricky Nelson, sensational young singing star and son of Ozma and Harriet Nelson, now has four just to handle his fan mail. In five weeks, Ricky's record, "Stood Up," sold 1,000,000 copies and now is headed for the second million.

Incidentally, Ricky's head fan mail secretary is 26-year-old Connie Harper, step-granddaughter of movie magnate Cecil B. De Mille.

A hunting lodge, once owned by King Louis XIV, has been leased by Leslie Caron and husband Peter Hall to live in when they are in Europe. The miniature villa is a few miles from Paris, and just a stone's throw from Maurice Chevalier's estate.

Right now, Leslie and her bridegroom are in England. She's finishing "Anna" for MGM, and Hall is directing "Twelfth Night" at the Shakespeare Memorial theater at Stratford on Avon.

In April, Leslie has promised MGM to fly to New York for the opening of "Gigi."

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

From Scranton, Pa., comes the story of a chief named Napoleon whose roasts and sauces were famous for miles around. The president of a nearby university borrowed him one day to cook an important dinner, and Napoleon proudly set forth to fill the engagement, his trusty carving knives wrapped in a piece of old newspaper.

He just did catch his bus, and breathing heavily, instructed the driver, "Step on the gas, mister. The president is waiting for me." The driver looked warily at the carving knives, nodded, "You're the boss," and drove him straight to a lunatic asylum.

Thinking this must be the university, the cook unwrapped his knives and announced to the guard at the gate, "I'm Napoleon Where's the party?" Next thing Napoleon knew he was in a padded cell.

University officials—plus the hotel manager—rescued Napoleon some eight hours later.

Greenawald Statement

Official Plan A Reviewed For Thruway

(Editor's Note — The following is the complete text of the E. J. Greenawald statement outlining location of Plan A at yesterday's public hearing in Stroudsburg. Greenawald is assistant District Five highways engineer.)

"THE PROPOSED highway starts at and connects with the north approach to the new Delaware River Bridge near the north end of the Borough of Delaware Water Gap. It extends over new location in a northerly direction and curving northwesterly over the tracks of the DL&W Railroad Co. and Brodheads Creek, on an overhead structure, thence westerly through the borough limits of East Stroudsburg, approximately 600 feet south of Brown St., or present Leg. Route 166 and crossing the DL&W Railroad Co. tracks on an overhead bridge 900 feet west of Brodheads Ave.

It goes over Brodheads Creek 900 feet west of the railroad crossing, thence curving southwesterly along the east and south side of McMichael's Creek, crossing under the Seventh St. viaduct that carries present U. S. 611 in the Borough of Stroudsburg, thence continuing in a southwesterly direction along the abandoned road bed of the Wilkes-Barre and Eastern Railroad.

Thence the road continues in a northwesterly direction crossing Dreher Ave. (L.R. 165) and West Main Street (U.S. 209) about three-quarters of a mile west of the center of Stroudsburg Borough and thence continuing in a northwesterly direction to a point on present U. S. 611 about two miles northwest of the center of Stroudsburg. The total length of the project is eight miles.

There are nine horizontal curves on the main line: four 4-degree curves; one 3-degree curve; one 2-degree, 30-minute curve; one 1-degree, 24-minute curve; one 11-degree; one 45-minute curve. There are four sections of grades which are over 2 percent. They are as follows: 2.9

percent—2,900 feet long; 4 percent—1,800 feet long; 4.7 percent—1,600 feet long and 5 percent — 600 feet long. Eight interchanges have been proposed to provide access to the Borough's and to other existing facilities. They are as follows:

1. Connection with (L.R. 776 or U. S. 611), L.R. 166 and Twp. Road 645 in the Borough of Delaware Water Gap and Smithfield Township.

2. Connection with L.R. 45011 at Minisink Hills including the reconstruction of L.R. 45011 from the interchange to the intersection of L.R. 461-W or T.R. 402. The latter route extends to the intersection of U. S. 209 at Marshalls Creek, 1.18 MI.

3. Connection with Prospect St. in East Stroudsburg Borough. This connection will extend to Brown St., L.R. 166 or T. W. 612.

4. Connection with Broad St., L. R. 45054 or T. W. 90 in the Borough of Stroudsburg. This connection provides for an off and on ramp to and from Broad St. for north bound traffic.

5. Connection with Park Ave., L. R. 498 or U. S. 611. This connection provides for an off and on ramp to and from Park Ave. for southbound traffic.

6. Connection with Dreher Ave., L. R. 165 in the Borough of Stroudsburg. This connection provides for an off ramp for northbound traffic and an on ramp for southbound traffic.

7. Connection with West Main St., L. R. 164 or U. S. 209 in the Borough of Stroudsburg.

8. Connection with present L. R. 168 or U. S. 611 northwest of Stroudsburg.

The proposed type of construction consists of 2-12 foot lanes of 10 inch Reinforced Cement Concrete Pavement on each side of a 26 foot median. Through the restricted area a four-foot divider will be used.

The width of stabilized shoulders will be 10 feet in cut sections and 12 feet in fill sections. The estimated construction cost is approximately $10,500,000.00.

The estimated average daily traffic for 1974, on which the design is based, ranges from 16,300 cars to 12,800 cars through East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg and 10,000 cars north of Stroudsburg.

The location and design are so arranged that the proposed By-Pass will serve traffic not only on U. S. 611 but also traffic on U. S. 209.

The purpose of this project, which is on the Federal Aid Interstate System, is to remove through traffic from the center and business sections of East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg Boroughs, which will relieve the traffic congestion now prevailing and facilitate the orderly and un-interrupted flow of through traffic.

Because of the proximity of the proposed By-Pass to the business centers of the Stroudsburg Boroughs, the local traffic also will be served very conveniently and expeditiously.

This, therefore, will make it very inviting for people to deal and do business in the two boroughs and, without a doubt, this proposed facility will benefit and be an enormous asset to these towns and will also save time and money for through traffic."

Funeral services for the late Charles Smith Jr., of Cresco, were held yesterday at 2 p.m. in Mountainhome Methodist Church.

Rev. Harold MacMurray officiated. Interment was made in Oakland cemetery. Pallbearers were Gene Bender, LeRoy Engert, Harvey Smith, Charles Vogt Jr., George Vogt Jr., and Joseph Vogt.

All cinderling crews of the city and state were pressed into service and motorists were warned to stay off highways unless absolutely necessary.

Conditions are expected to grow worse tonight.

State Police of the local barracks said it was raining and freezing at the time of the accident to the northbound truck.

Frank White, identified by police as the driver of the vehicle, and William Hawkins, riding with him, were in a truck owned by Applebaum Trucking Co., Inc., Philadelphia, when it left the highway near Snyder's Garage and overturned.

Two Philadelphia truck drivers were reported in satisfactory condition last night in Eastern Hospital where they are being treated for injuries sustained in a one-vehicle accident on Route 115, 12 miles west of Stroudsburg, about 9:30 a.m. yesterday.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

For most people the word wisteria calls to mind sun-dappled southern porches—but not for me. Our wisteria is my best winter thermometer. When there are icicles on the wisteria, it means allow an extra half hour to get over town.

Even in summer it's a pretty poor excuse for wisteria, going mostly to swaying tentacles that clog the drain pipe, choke the neighboring spruce tree and nest together around the make-shift trellis I made from a Cub Scout climbing rope that I borrowed from my son all those long years ago and never returned.

It's the clogged drain pipe that makes it such an excellent barometer. Even when the rain is so fine as to be invisible you can tell by the dripping wisteria that you'd better wear your boots. And its icicles grow to lengths that put to shame the runty blossoms of summer.

Therefore the ice-slide out the back door didn't surprise me. But it sure surprised the cat. When he came running from the garage at my summons, he hit the ice and skidded all the way to the back porch. Dogs slide, humans skid, but I've never seen a cat skid before—or one that looked so astonished.

I was a little astonished myself—not at the ice but at the commotion it caused. No meetings—everybody staying home, what a nice quiet day at the office, you might think. Quite the contrary, everybody was so busy cancelling meetings and scheduling them for today, next week, two weeks or whatever it turned out to be one of the busiest days of the week.

Well, some people made their meetings, ice or no ice, and I hereby reserve a couple of extra stars for the crowns of the nurses, Gray Ladies, canteen workers and doctors who served yesterday at the blood bank at Tobyhanna.

Paradise Parents Learn To Sight Read

Swiftwater — Parents of the Paradise Parent-Teachers Assn. were taken back to the first grade level and given a lesson in reading by modern "sight" method at their meeting on Thursday night. Mrs. Gladys Seese, a member of the faculty at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, was the speaker, and her theme was "What is Meant by Reading Readiness."

Mrs. David Toms presided at the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Donald Brown, president, now a patient in the Germantown Hospital, Wister Ave., Germantown, Phila., Room 32. A report was given on the new stove which has been installed in the lunch room and has proved helpful to the hot lunches. Plans were announced for a Country Style Show to be held in the Spring.

Refreshments of hot muffins, jam and coffee were served by the hostesses: Margaret Neilson,

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Peechatka

Miss Barbara Kresge Bride Of Larry Peechatka

Tannersville—Miss Barbara Kresge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Kresge, of Tannersville, became the bride of Larry Peechatka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Peechatka, of Scotrun, on December 28 at 4 p. m.

They were married at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Tannersville, by Rev. Edward T. Horn. Walter Sehring was soloist and Mrs. Virginia Gantzhorn was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white tulle, featuring a portrait neckline trimmed with sequins and pearls. The fitted bodice buttoned down the back and had long sleeves, ending in points over her hands. The skirt had inverted pleats with a front panel of lace embroidered with pearls and sequins, and a chapel length train in back. She wore a tiara to hold a scalloped fingertip veil and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and holly with a white orchid center.

Miss Joyce Werkheiser, Tannersville, was matron of honor and Miss Alice Kresge, Tannersville, was bridesmaid. Both are sisters of the bride. They wore gowns of red tulle and net with scalloped necklines and matching headpieces. They carried white fur muffs with red polka-dots.

Farley Peechatka, Scotrun, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Homer Smith served as usher.

Kathy Jo Werkheiser, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor length gown of white tulle and net and carried a basket of red rose petals. Gary Bloss, Tannersville, was ring bearer.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the firehouse in Tannersville.

Leola Wallingford, Arlene Zimmerman and Virginia Leis.

The next meeting, February 13, will observe Founder's Day with a novelty skit and a birthday cake.

Role Of Music In School Defended At PTA Meeting

A strong defense of music in the public schools both for its own sake and in conjunction with other school work was presented at the meeting of the Clearview Parent-Teachers Assn. on Monday night at the school. Ralph Harrison of the music department of the Stroud Union School and John Pyle, director of the band, spoke on the theme "Your Child and Music."

A healthy nation is devoted to art and culture as well as science, Harrison pointed out, and warned that to yield to current pressure for eliminating "frills" would be a mistake.

Music plays a vital role in a student's life he said, both for its own sake and in relation to other studies. The use of rhythm in health education classes, of folk songs in learning to know other people, in songs of action and sentiment which stimulate the imagination of the students, and in relieving tiredness and restless music plays an important part.

Every child, he said, will respond to music in some form through singing, dancing, or playing an instrument, and gains in appreciation from listening to music. He outlined the various levels of music study in the elementary schools, and the feeling of satisfaction and achievement music brought to the pupil.

This year a band of 46 students, drawn from the elementary schools of the union district, has been organized, and John Pyle, band director, outlined the ways in which the children were selected and trained.

Using the parents as pupils, he gave the 50 question test to determine their aptitude for playing musical instruments. Tone identification, rhythm, and other questions brought laughter as well as information to the audience participation.

Parents of children in the fifth and sixth grades who show an aptitude for instrumental music and are doing well in other school work are encouraged to give them private instruction since at that level, the school is unable to provide the instruments or instruction.

At the seventh grade level, there are a few instruments available, but not enough to accommodate the students who want to play them, Pyle said. Others must rent or buy their own instruments or go on the waiting list. He urged parents not to compel their child to play an instrument, but to encourage those with a real interest in learning.

Mrs. George Sehring, Jr., presided at the meeting. Ralph Knapp in the absence of Woodrow Berger introduced the program.

The Clearview PTA now has 264 members, it was announced. Thomas Manley reported on the sixth grade's field trip to the Daily Record plant. Mrs. Thomas Joyce reported on the meeting of the curriculum committee.

Mrs. Elwood German appealed for Girl Scout leaders in the area, where there are many potential Girl Scouts just waiting for adult leadership.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Recognition Of Merit In Pack Meeting

Cub Pack 20, meeting at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, featured the presentation of badges and awards followed by a Christmas party. Gifts made by the boys were presented to their parents and gifts were exchanged among the cubs. The Wyckoff Shopper
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

To me the judging of our annual art show is one of the most exciting highlights of my work year. I love it... because, in the first place, I love pictures—particularly original ones, and, secondly, I love the people who paint them. I have never met an artist who wasn't interesting... and the more interesting his work, the more interesting the individual.

This is the first year I have not had a foregone conclusion as to whom the winners should be. Always heretofore there has been in our show one picture that, to my way of thinking, stood out far and above the nearest competitor. This year... well, I was so completely intrigued by the exhibit as a whole, I could decide upon no particular one and say, "THAT'S for me."

Each year while the judges are making their decisions, I tag along keeping an ear pinned to their conversation. This is very enlightening... it teaches me about composition, freedom, color, originality, and a great many other things which I would not ordinarily consider in studying a painting. This year it was more difficult. Our judges... all of them excellent... decided to make the rounds separately, and then meet for discussion. I sweated out the time as a prospective father in a hospital waiting room. I paced. I chatted feverishly with anyone in a mood to chat. Then I joined Leonard Randolph of the Record staff in Mr. Kerlin's office. Randy was calm and composed. (He's an old hand at being a father.) We chatted about everything from art to the Jack Paar show.

Being human, I am sure Randy must have been wondering what those judges were doing and what they thought of his talented wife's work... but he never once hinted that he was a bit interested. Gloria Shafer Randolph is producing some beautiful art these days. Always highly original, she seems to be expanding in various new fields... reaching out, and finding herself. She's a comer... no doubt about it. But Randy didn't talk about Gloria's work. He was just a reporter, covering a story and probably wishing to heaven it wouldn't take so long.

At last I returned to the show. The judges had reached their decisions... but only in the professional class. It was almost 5:30 before the amateurs had been evaluated. "It's really tough this year," they told me. "This area has a wealth of truly fine talent."

Mr. Wyckoff was there, and for a while we chatted with Mrs. Allan Eldridge, wife of one of the judges, herself a competent judge. We laughed because she had wandered around making her own selections, and come up with identical decisions. At last it was over... and believe it or not, I WAS EXHAUSTED. But those judges did a marvelous job. Come in and see if you don't agree. I'm sure you will.

Oil, Wax Aids Natural Finish

IF YOU like the beauty of natural pine woodwork, finish it with an oil and wax treatment used by many furniture craftsmen.

Here are three easy-to-follow steps:

1. Sand wood smooth. This may not be necessary on woodwork such as panel or louver doors, windows, and kitchen cabinets of ponderosa pine. These units are smooth sanded and ready for installation when purchased from a building material dealer.

2. Saturate a piece of cheesecloth with linseed oil and apply liberally to the wood, covering it completely. Let the oil soak in until dry. If a deeper color is desired, apply several coats, allowing each to dry.

3. When the linseed oil is dry to the touch, apply lemon oil liberally, rubbing it in. When this is dry, rub vigorously with a soft cloth for a faint polish. If a brighter sheen is preferred, paste wax may be applied.

Color Should Be In Close Harmony

THE EXTERIOR color scheme of a house should be in harmony with its setting and architectural style, says one of the nation's leading color stylists.

Margaret Hargreaves, of South Pasadena, Calif., says that, although there is no such thing as a formula for color planning, there are certain groups of colors that go best with different settings and styles. Miss Hargreaves says:

Stylist

"On an open, relatively treeless site, use lighter, sharper colors. The purpose is to make a house stand out as an individual unit, distinct in its own right."

The color stylist says that a site rich in trees and other natural landscaping needs siding and roofing colors in relation to this background. She suggests grays, subtle colors, such as asphalt shingles in one of the soft blends of green or brown.

Wise Home Owners Check For Trouble

A WISE motorist checks his car regularly to make sure that his brakes or some other safety feature won't fail in an emergency.

For similar reasons, a wise homeowner inspects his roof periodically. He wants to make sure it protects the house as it should.

Just as brake failure could cause a fatal accident, roof leaks can cause water to short out electrical circuits.

Leaks also can weaken ceilings and damage interior walls. Rafters and roof decking as well as floor joists may warp if roof leaks are not found and stopped.

Four Areas

Here are four areas of potential trouble to inspect in order to prevent damage from roof leaks:

1. On a bright dry day go into the attic and look for tiny pin holes of light in the roof.

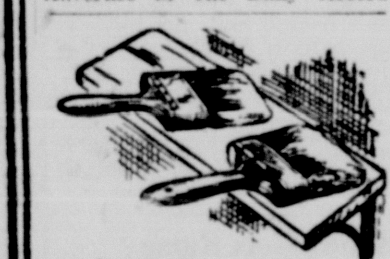

2. On a rainy day, use a flashlight to check under the roof for darkened, damp areas on rafters or roof decking. Damp spots sometimes indicate roof leaks.

3. Look carefully at flashing, sheet metal or roll roofing sealing off exposed areas between roofing and chimney vent stacks, and valleys. If flashing has become loose, water can get inside and cause damage.

4. Make sure roof gutters are clean and free of snow, leaves, and other debris. Water concentration from clogged gutters may cause leaks. To insure proper drainage, check roof gutters at least twice yearly.

Do not walk on an old weathered roof. This can start roof leaks. If the roof is old, new asphalt shingles probably can be installed over the existing roof material. Asphalt shingles are available in a wide variety of colors and help make a house more comfortable as well as distinctly attractive.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-387

Desirable for either city or farm.

The small room off the side entry has a toilet, lavatory and large closet. However, there is still room for a freezer, washer and dryer. If necessary.

There are lots of closets, well distributed throughout the house; a large storage closet and others for coats and linen. The kitchen is compact and well arranged, and has a larger than usual dinette and a china cabinet. The center bedroom could be used as a den, workroom, or even be converted into a dining room by leaving out the partition. The exterior finish combines wide siding and stone with wide eaves. Floor area is 1415 sq. ft. with a cubage of 26,838 cu. ft. including the full basement.

For further information about DESIGN C-387, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada, the Small House Planning Bureau of Canada, St. John, New Brunswick.

30 Years On Project Well Worth Time, Energy Spent

THIRTY YEARS is a long time to spend on any do-it-yourself project, but anyone who visits the rambling Colonial home of Jay Perine in Rockland County, N. Y., will agree every minute and effort put into the project was well worthwhile.

In 1928, Perine, a New York City advertising executive, bought the crumbling, 20-year-old shack shown in the "before" photo with the express purpose of making a Colonial-style mansion out of it.

He began work at once, and hasn't stopped since. Today the rambling 10-room house on 20 acres of forest land north of New York City, is a landmark in an area where pre-Revolutionary War homes abound.

Perine, who was a professional photographer for 15 years and who recently sang a concert in the Carnegie Recital Hall, did all the work himself with the occasional aid of two brothers and a sister. And he insists he has more projects in mind.

"The next job will be a new, all-white roof of asphalt shingles over that old metal roof up there," Perine said. "I want a white roof because it reflects heat."

Perine's desire for a heat-reflecting roof is a good illustration of his attitude toward the work.

Part of the insulation was installed at the sacrifice of a few original plaster walls which were filled with a mixture of corn cobs, twigs, and bark—the "insulation" of George Washington's day. This had to be removed before fireproof mineral wool could be installed.

"I hated to see those walls go," says Perine, "but comfort came first. Besides, can you imagine the cost of heating a house this size without insulation?"

One place where Perine didn't have to sacrifice Colonial authenticity was in adding new doors and windows or replacing old ones. He obtained Colonial-style double hung windows and panel doors of ponderosa pine from a local building materials dealer. These stock windows and doors are copies from originals made by Colonial craftsmen.

Perine confesses that in 1928 he was a bit overwhelmed by the enormity of the task that lay ahead to make a home out of the ramshackle building he bought.

"But I'd it all over again, gladly, and I recommend it to anyone who likes to work with his hands as I do," he says.

Escaping Heat Big Problem

HERE'S a puzzler. Why does snow melt off one roof, yet remain in a heavy blanket on a similar house next door?

The answer is escaping heat. In the house on the "right," enough heat is rising through the ceiling and attic to melt the snow, even though the outside temperature was seven degrees below freezing when the photo was taken.

Snow remains on the roof of the house next door because heat is not escaping. It is staying inside where it belongs.

This is a good illustration of why thick insulation is important to homeowners. Snow melting off a roof in sub-freezing temperatures means that heating fuel is being wasted. In effect, the furnace is futilely trying to heat the great outdoors. The result is that the heating system operates almost constantly on cold days, burning fuel unnecessarily.

Mineral Wool

Mineral wool insulation installed in recommended thicknesses cuts heat loss to a minimum. Insulation engineers recommend at least four inches of mineral wool in ceilings and three inches in walls. Floors over crawl spaces and other unheated areas need at least a two-inch thickness of insulation.

A house well insulated with mineral wool is more comfortable, since temperatures stay uniform and walls stay warm. Fuel waste is stopped, since mineral wool reduces heat loss so sharply that heating bills can be cut by as much as 40 percent.

Owners of existing houses who have cold weather problems such as drafts, cold rooms, and excessive high heating costs, can have mineral wool blown into walls and ceilings needing insulation by a professional contractor.

Thick batts and blankets are available for new home construction and for do-it-yourself projects.

Many Uses For Cabinets

STOCK china cabinets have many uses besides storing family china or glassware. The cabinets, made of ponderosa pine, can be used as enclosures for high fidelity music components and records, as bookshelves, for special flower arrangements and as a special exhibition place for rocks and shells, or other collectors' items.

The bottom portion of the cabinets can be altered as a hiding place for one of the new thin television receivers.

Available from building material dealers, ponderosa pine cabinets can be finished in rich natural wood tones or painted to harmonize with room decor.

Cement Bookends

SLIPPING bookends can easily be made to remain stationary by cementing a one-eighth pad of sponge rubber to bottoms with rubber cement.

Insulation Among Major Considerations In Home

LOOKING for a house to buy? Here are seven questions and answers about insulation you should know when you inspect any house. They'll help you judge whether you would live comfortably in it and whether it would be economical to run:

1. What areas are insulated?

Outside walls and ceilings should always be insulated. In basementless houses there should be floor insulation over crawl spaces or around the edges of a concrete slab. Insulation forms a tight blanket around house living spaces. It keeps heat in during winter, out in summer.

2. How much insulation? A 6-inch thickness of mineral wool in the ceiling, 4 inches in walls, and 2 inches in floors where necessary is recommended if a house is electrically heated or air conditioned. At least 4 inches in the ceiling, 3 inches in walls, and 2 inches in floors is recommended for houses with conventional heating systems.

Application Check

Look for gaps in insulation. Odd-shaped and small spaces should be insulated. Insulation should be brought snugly up to electrical boxes, wiring, and pipes.

3. How can proper application be checked? Although much insulation is hidden, it's possible to inspect attic or attached garage insulation. If there is a crawl space, go in and look.

4. Is insulation tightly applied? Staples used in application of batts or blanket insulation shouldn't be more than 6 inches apart.

5. Is insulation complete? Look for gaps in insulation. Odd-shaped and small spaces should be insulated. Insulation should be brought snugly up to electrical boxes, wiring, and pipes.

6. Is the vapor barrier properly installed? Insulation should have its vapor barrier toward the heated-in-winter side of walls and ceilings. The vapor barrier should be snugly applied.

7. Is the space over ceiling insulation ventilated? Ceiling insulation works better if the space between the inside surface of the roof and the outside surface of the insulation is ventilated. Louvers under eaves or at gable ends of the roof make a house more comfortable.

Study Brings Good Shingles

THE ASPHALT roofing industry recently began its 31st year of research work at the National Bureau of Standards of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

To the home-owner, this means that asphalt shingles produced today are the result of long and continuing scientific research to make them give dependable protection as well as an attractive appearance.

Research over the years has given modern roofing materials color, resistance to sun, wind, and damage from ice and snow, and more reliable application methods.

Tape Prevents Marks

RUBBER electrician's tape or a strip from an old inner tube wrapped around the head of a hammer prevents marring the surface of wood when removing nails.

Stop Snow Drifts

USE windbreaks to keep snow from drifting over valuable shrubbery. Plants against buildings need protection on one side only. Exposed plants need complete protection. Simple shrubbers can be made from burlap.

why is a weathermaker home so much more comfortable?

A Weathermaker Home is equipped with the famous Carrier Weathermaker Air Conditioner. In summer it uses safe, dependable electric refrigeration to keep the entire house cool and comfortable, no matter how hot the weather. In winter it maintains uniform temperatures throughout the house with reliable forced warm air heat. All year long it circulates clean, filtered air.

OFF THE RECORD

By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

LET NO one tell you that Art Wall Jr. wasn't one of the hottest linkers around during the 1957 professional golf season.

Wall, Pocono Manor's representative on the play-for-pay trail, is fifth in the Ryder Cup Standings, trailing only Sam Snead, Dow Finsterwald, Mike Souchak and Dick Mayer.

In the race for the Vardon Trophy, Art the former Duke University golf captain, is third. Only Finsterwald and Doug Ford are ahead of the Honesdale native.

The TIT Point Standings show Art again in third place, just in back of Ford and Finsterwald.

That was quite a year Wall had in '57, especially when such names as Bo Wininger, Jackie Burke, Cary Middlecoff, Al Bessellink, Ed Furgol, Ken Venturi, Arnold Palmer, Jay and Lionel Hebert, Bill Casper, Jimmy Demaret, Pete Thompson, Ed Furgol, Gene Littler, Bob Rosburg, and a host of other topnotchers were second fiddle to the lean Pocono Manor swinger.

Aside all these honors, Wall, in between eye-opening performances, was able to pick up checks that totaled $20,867.43.

Dr. John Martucci, Brodheadsville, caught a 30 pound wahoo, while on a recent vacation in South Florida.

His catch was entered in the Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament.

His fishing guide was Capt. Dick Meeker on the Sand Dollar out of Islamorada, Florida.

Bowling Tidbits — Stan Schovel had himself a banner night in the Bushkill League, summing the pins for a 622 series, on singletons of 222 and 207.

Other high matches were posted by Tili Courtwright with 593, and Horton Fanning, 548.

In the Commercial "B", Andy Stauffer had his biggest day of the season, combining the maples for a 625. Stauffer, however, beat out Angelo P. DeSanto for high weekly laurels. Ang rapped out a 613, via a sterling 257 one game.

Russ Dennis Jr., Carl Shirk, Jim Harmon Jr. and Tom Sommers had the control over the pins with 593, 587, 583 and 580 respectively.

There were three 600 matches in the Monroe Classic. Topping the list was Jack Darr with 646 followed by Harry Walton's 633, and Dr. Gail Fegley's 629.

In the second half average race, Fegley leads with 206, trailed by Darr's 203, Andrews' 201, and Oscar Stuckey's 200.

Don Kinsley won weekly honors in the Monroe County with a 623 match and a 256 single. Lou Lee was next with 256-618.

Frank Bell had one of his better days in the Industrial Bowling League, coming in with a 567 series the last time out.

Ralph Coleman also enjoyed a good evening effort to the tune of a 236 singleton — second half high — and a 559 match. Oscar Stuckey was fourth best this week with a 534, followed by Bob Smith's 544.

Top laurels again went to Stan Konawalik who fashioned a 212 — '585, keeping his league-leading average at 196.

Mountaineers Held To One Point In 2nd

EMMAUS — Stroudsburg High felt the sting of a pressing Emmaus defense and a well-balanced Green Hornet offense here last night as the co-leaders of the Lehigh Valley League stunned the Mountaineers, 70-19.

Emmaus, rated one of the teams seen able to dethrone Palmetton as LV Kings, bounced out to a 15-5 spread in the first period and then held the Mountaineers to one foul in the second while compiling a 29-6 halftime bulge.

Things were no different for Stroudsburg in the second half as the Green Hornets swept through for 22 and 19 markers in the third and fourth stanzas while holding the Mountaineers to nine and four respectively.

Emmaus using a pressing front count, man-to-man defense held the Mountaineers' offense to less than 20 shots in the first half. Stroudsburg got off more shots in the final 16 minutes but not enough to cope with the smooth inside and team.

Lauchner, with 18 points, paced the Hornets. Jerry Schantzenbach and Kerry Levandowski with 13 and 11 followed.

Williams Has 10
Ted Williams was high for Stroudsburg with 10.

It was the third consecutive loss for the Mountaineers in the LV and the setback evened their season mark at 6-6. Emmaus is 3-0 in the league and 7-2 on the season.

Emmaus' junior varsity also came out on top, defeating the Little Mountaineers, 63-42, in preliminary.

O'Malley Cut Himself-Wrigley

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (AP)—"I'll always remember what my father used to say: 'A man can get so sharp he cuts himself.'"

It was Phil Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, talking, and he was referring to Walter O'Malley's president of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Wrigley and other Cub officials today held a luncheon for newsmen and it was O'Malley's attempt to land a suitable place to play in Los Angeles that was a main topic of banter.

"I guess O'Malley was all set to build a ball park at Chavez Ravine," said Wrigley, whose sale to O'Malley of Wrigley Field in Los Angeles and the Pacific Coast League franchise spurred the Dodgers and Giants' westward movement.

"But when he began talking about mineral rights, the citizens out there boiled over. It's just like my father used to say: 'A man can get so sharp he cuts himself.'"

Towel Victor Over Zulueta

LONDON, Jan. 14 (AP)—South Africa's Willie Towel, British Empire lightweight champion, out-pointed Cuba's Orlando Zulueta tonight in a 10-round bout.

Each weighed 135 pounds. Towel proved the heavier puncher. By the third round, he was matching left for left with the wily Cuban stylist and showing a greater variety of all-round punches.

It was a close fight all the way and most of the rounds were nip and tuck. The Associated Press scorecard had Towel ahead, six rounds to two, with two even. The referee's card was not disclosed. He was the only official.

Barrett, TTHS, Pocono Twp. Win

POCONO TWP. was still undefeated. Barrett gained a firmer grip on second place, and Tobyhanna moved into a tie for third following action in the Monroe Scholastic Basketball League last night.

Pocono Twp. dumped Polk, 74-37. Barrett edged Chestnuthill, 47-43, and Tobyhanna defeated Coolbaugh, 61-55.

Beats Off Threat

CANADENSIS—Barrett High beat back pretender Chestnuthill to its second place position here last night by defeating the Hillers, 47-43.

The victory was the fifth in six games for Barrett, losers only to Pocono Twp. By losing, Chestnuthill dropped down to the 500 mark with a 3-3 log.

Barrett broke away from a 15-15 stalemate in the first quarter and moved to an eight-point lead, 36-28, at the end of three periods. The Hillers rallied in the final eight minutes, outscoring Barrett 15-11, but the overall lead was too big.

Harrison Hits 23
Charley Harrison spearheaded the winners with a 23-point night. Dick Serfass and Everett headed the Hillers with 15 and 13.

Barrett's jayvees also came out on top, nipping Chestnuthill's JV's, 29-26. John Ryan was high for the victors with 10, while Jerry Fritz canned a like number for the losers.

Tobyhanna 3-3

TOBYHANNA — Tobyhanna Township evened its record at 3-3 and shot into a tie for third place with Chestnuthill by squeezing by Coolbaugh, 61-55, here last night.

TTTS shot away to a 17-6 lead in the opening period and then fought off a late Coolbaugh bid before gaining the verdict.

Altomero sparked Tobyhanna with 25 points, Weirich and Shotwell trailed with 14 and 12.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Coolbaugh's coach Don Wismer requested that the Coolbaugh individual statistics be left out of the game's box score. For this one time The Daily Record will comply to the request, only because the other team's—Tobyhanna—coach was not available for conference on the matter.)

In last night's preliminary, Coolbaugh won, 41-24.

Erdelatz Out Of A&M Race

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Jan. 14 (AP)—Eddie Erdelatz, Navy's football coach, withdrew today as a candidate for Texas A&M coach and athletic director in a flash of angry words with a college director.

The dispute centered around whether Jack Finney, the director, and other board members acted properly when they approached Erdelatz in Washington last Friday.

The dispute occurred today as Erdelatz sought to frame a formal statement as to why he was turning down the job.

Charles Carder of the Bryan Eagle, who was present, reported Erdelatz in a sharp tone of voice accused Finney of not doing all possible to inform the head of the Naval Academy that Finney wished to discuss a possible job at A&M.

Finney, chairman of the athletic committee of the A&M board, replied, also in sharp tones, that he had done all within his power to reach the academy head.

No Gestures
Neither man grew red faced or made any threatening gestures, Carder said, but added it obviously was a dispute.

Dr. C. H. Groneman, faculty athletic council chairman, sought to act as mediator, and a statement finally was issued by Erdelatz, saying that "a division in the proper protocol in selection of the coach" was one consideration in withdrawing his name.

He also said that his love of the academy was one reason for not considering the A&M job further.

Dr. Groneman said the council must hold another meeting before deciding its next move.

Commercial 'B' Resumes Play

West Virginia Continues To Set Torrid Poll Pace

By The Associated Press

West Virginia, unbeaten in 12 games, continued to set a torrid pace in The Associated Press' weekly college basketball poll Wednesday. But the road ahead may be a rocky one for the powerful Mountaineers.

The classy club from Morgantown meets Pitt on the Panthers' home court tonight. Pitt, led by its diminutive scoring wizard, Don Hennon, has put together a 7-4 record and has looked particularly impressive while beating Syracuse and Duke and dropping a 76-71 verdict to Temple.

Still, West Virginia's 12-0 mark looked mighty good to most of the 104 sportswriters and sportsmen who participated in the weekly balloting. Sixty-nine ranked the Mountaineers at the top, accounting for a major share of the 941 points accumulated on the usual basis of 10 points for first place, 9 for second etc.

Kansas State was a relatively poor second with 500 points followed closely by Kansas with 586. The voting was based on games through Saturday.

San Francisco collected the second highest total of first place votes, nine. But the Dons received only 532 points to wind up in fourth place.

Cincy 5th

Cincinnati, paced by national scoring leader Oscar Robertson, was fifth while North Carolina, surprised by Maryland, fell three notches to sixth place.

Oklahoma State moved into seventh position with a 10-1 record. Maryland's victory over North Carolina enabled it to advance to eighth place while Kentucky held ninth place and Bradley clung to 10th by taking a pair from Houston.

The second 10: Mississippi State, Temple, Tennessee, Oklahoma, St. John's of Brooklyn, Oregon State, Wichita, Michigan, State, Dartmouth and North Carolina State.

Turner Meets Martinez

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14 (AP)—Philadelphia's Gil Turner and Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., fight here tomorrow night in a 12 rounder which will earn the winner a crack at the welterweight championship of most boxing jurisdictions.

The National Boxing Assn., which includes all American boxing commissions with the exception of New York and Massachusetts, has recognized the Turner-Martinez bout as a semifinal welterweight title fight. The winner, ruled the NBA here last week, should meet Isaac Legart for the crown.

Promoter Herman Taylor, re-estimating the crowd and gate figures, predicts a 7,500 sellout crowd paying outwards of $40,000. He attributes the fine gate in this day and age of small boxing crowds to the local television blackout. The fight will be telecast nationally (ABC). Each fighter will receive 27½ per cent of the gate plus a $4,000 television fee.

McGraw Named Steeler Aide

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Jan. 14 (AP)—Colorado State University said today Thurman (Fum) McGraw, 30, assistant football coach, is leaving in March to become line coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers professional team.

McGraw is head wrestling coach at the university and will remain here until the season is over. He played five years at tackle for the Detroit Lions in the 1950-54 seasons, four of them under Coach Buddy Parker, who became coach of the Steelers last season.

HERE is a present little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Change Will Be Slow

HONG KONG, Jan. 14 (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai indicates Red China is not yet ready to scrap ancient ideographs for a modern alphabet, though the draft of a phonetic scheme was approved by the ruling state council last Nov. 1.

In a speech broadcast by Radio Peiping, Chou said the ideographs-or picture writings-had made an imperishable contribution to China. He added that whether they "should be replaced by a Latinized or any other phonetic form is a question which we are not in a hurry to decide."

WHERE'S THE FIRE?—Stroudsburg firemen pry at window moulding of Kenny's Bar and Grill, 145 N. Ninth St., as they attempt to locate fire caused by short circuiting neon sign last night. Damage was slight. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Stroudsburg Company Halts 9th Street Fire

STROUDSBURG firemen extinguished a blaze at Kenny's Bar and Grill, 145 N. Ninth St., about 6:20 p. m. yesterday. Slight damage was reported.

Firemen said the blaze resulted from a short circuit in a neon sign outside the building.

Rip Siding It was necessary to tear out siding and rip out moulding around a window to reach the blaze. The building is owned by Miss Lottie DePue. Operator of the tavern is Kenneth Carlton.

THE CIVILIANS—helped to get Tobyhanna Signal Depot off to a 271-pint turnout at the Bloodmobile visit yesterday.

Depot Gives 271 Pints Of Blood

MONROE County Red Cross volunteers renewed their onrush of praise and gratitude for employees at Tobyhanna Signal Depot.

The occasion: At the Bloodmobile's first semi-annual visit to the Depot for 1958, employees, enlisted men and officers contributed a total of 271 pints of blood.

The mobile unit visits the Depot again today. And Depot officials hope to see another 200 pints contributed during today's visit.

Red Cross blood donor officials in Monroe said last night that "this county, as usual, owes its greatest expression of thanks to the Signal Depot."

Mrs. Walter Dreher told the Daily Record: "Time and time again we've depended on the men and women at the Depot to keep our Blood Bank supply coming. And they've never let us down, once. They're our lifeline."

"During the past three years, the Depot has actually kept Monroe County's Bloodmobile going. If it weren't for them, we'd end up with a deficit every time. And our hospital can't get the supply of blood it needs each year if we have a deficit," Mrs. Dreher said.

Ove Lives
"There's really no way to tell how many men and women and children in this county may actually owe their lives to the people at the Depot. They've supported the Bloodmobile wholeheartedly each time we've stopped there in the past. And today's record was just another in a long line of lists of donations for which we are tremendously grateful and of which the Depot may be justly proud," Mrs. Dreher said.

Although only 271 pints were collected yesterday a total of 289 persons registered to give blood. The remaining 18 were deferred until later, Mrs. Dreher said.

Bloodmobile volunteers also deserved some high praise yesterday. They made the trip to Tobyhanna from Stroudsburg in the worst ice storm of the year.

Most of the volunteers (excluding doctors) are women. And most of the women were driving icy Route 611 on their own, in the early morning hours.

Some of them had to turn back. But most of the others made it to the Depot on time. Mrs. Dreher said that LeRoy Mikels, blood donor program chairman for Monroe, deserved credit for transporting a large number of the workers.

Company G Searching For 25 National Guard Recruits

AN ALL-OUT campaign for 25 more members of Co. G, 109th Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard, was announced last night by First Lt. George Sopko, commanding officer.

The increase in manpower was recently authorized for the East Stroudsburg unit by the Department of Defense.

The campaign, described by Sopko as the "1000 Contractor" first stage of the Second Battalion, 109th Infantry, "Go for Broke Recruiting Mission," was launched Monday and will continue until Feb. 28. Using rocket terminology in the bulletin to men of his command, Sopko urged them to cite the benefits of good pay, excellent promotion possibilities and the opportunity to fulfill military obligations as reasons why young men should be interested in the guard.

He urged members to contact either potential recruit, or ex-servicemen and outline the benefits available to them

Mrs. Cleo Couch, 39, Dies Suddenly In Bangor Home

EAST BANGOR—Mrs. Cleo J. Couch, 39, wife of Jack Couch, Hazen Ave., died unexpectedly about 11 a.m. yesterday in the kitchen of her home while she was talking to her insurance agent, Michael Fisher of Bangor.

Inspection Of Cars To Be Featured

A TECHNICAL inspection of members' cars on Feb. 16 was discussed at a meeting of the Ridge Runners Rod Club last night.

Cars will be inspected for mufflers, lights, custom equipment and safety features. A trophy will be awarded for the high point winner.

It was announced the club will hold the first annual Monroe County reliability road run on Sunday, March 9. This is a non-speed event testing a driver's ability to judge time and distance and follow directions.

Trophies will be awarded in road car and sports car classifications.

Alex Cole represented the club in the Pocono Pines ice races on Lake Naomi last Sunday.

She was the former Cleo Selbert of Bangor. Dr. Floyd Hess pronounced her dead after being called to the home by Fisher.

Fisher said the woman dropped to the floor unconscious as he was in the act of returning her insurance payment book and change.

Grace Church

She was the daughter of Mrs. Nellie Selbert of Bangor and the late Vane Selbert and was a member of Grace Lutheran Church and the woman's auxiliary of the East Bangor Fire Co.

Surviving, in addition to her husband and mother, are a son, Leslie, and two daughters, Nancy and Gwendolyn, all at home; three brothers, Raymond, Selbert, Mountain, Del.; Vane Selbert, Phillipsburg, N. J.; and George E. Selbert, Easton; two sisters, Mrs. Shirley Stout, Roxboro, N. J., and Mrs. Lois La-Barre, Johnsonville.
